What did you learn from this story?

- We are all different.
- We can make an effort to reach out to someone.
- We can do so by doing kind acts and saying kind words.

Relationships

- Personalities are forming and being formed.
- Opinions are expressed.
- Disagreements happen.
- They may feel frustrated.
- BUT eventually, everything will be okay after a couple of days if we listen, help them to understand different points of view and let them work it out.

Shared Beliefs

- We value every student

- Each student is unique individual with intrinsic worth. He/She has strengths, interests, passion and preferred learning styles.

- All can learn

- Educators are key to enabling students' learning. We learn to be more effective and role model the desire to learn and the process of learning.

- Every student wants to succeed

- Each student has hopes and dreams. We are committed to opening vistas and finding pathways that energise him/her to live a purposeful life.
